There was a time where things were simple? However ; when they got complicated, the goals of the organization changed. People started to look at the product as if it were evolving, but it wasn't. The goal of the organization is to service customers efficiently. But, thingsds we're not as planned. The people started kksks. The reason we have to jump on the board is ont four the best people to win the deal. Their are things important to the blue fense. Six years ago, in another somewhat futile attempt to reduce the backlog of resources I want to share, I began this occasional "Ed Tech Digest" post where I share three or four links I think are particularly useful and related to...ed tech, including some Web 2.0 apps. Education is the process is facilitating learning, or the acquisition sdof knowledge, skills, values, beliefs, and habits. Educational methods include storytelling, discussion; teaching, training, and directed research. Education frequently takes place under the guidance of educators, however learners may also educate themselves. Education can take place in formal or informal settings and any experience that has a formative effect one the way one thinks, feels, or acts that maybe considered educational. The methodology of teaching is called pedagogy.
